Join the MAP Program

As a PES Mission Alliance Partner, your company directly supports the goals set forth in the strategic plan of the society and allows PES to strengthen and demonstrate our priorities in the areas of:

- education, training and workforce development
- research
- patient care
- patient access
- public advocacy

have missions and values that are directly aligned with those of PES, and invite the opportunity for the perfect alliance to support our members and the patients for whom we provide care.

We envision the development of strategic partnerships between PES and MAP members to accomplish our shared goals. Moreover, we foresee an important transition from thinking about what the Society and companies can acquire from each other to one that focuses on what we can achieve together. As its name suggests, it is our sincere hope that MAP will partner with PES to help guide and support one another through the complex and evolving landscape of healthcare. Together, we aim to create a clear path forward—one that strengthens the future of pediatric endocrinology and enhances the care we provide to the patients and families we serve.

At the same time, this model promotes greater value for our strategic partners, greater transparency about the relationships that the Society has with stakeholder organizations and increased financial predictability for all. The core of this model is a fixed financial contribution to PES in support of the Society's goals of education, training and workforce development, research, patient care, patient access and public advocacy. This fixed contribution is paired with society-wide recognition of sponsorship and the intention is for this contribution to eventually take the place of specific grant requests, providing greater MAP member value and greater financial predictability to both PES and our partners. This model also includes a tiered MAP membership structure that allows businesses and other entities to take into consideration their own mission and alignment with goals of PES to determine the degree to which they aspire to commit to this partnership.
